

ANZCA New Zealand Research Workshop

Friday, March 23, 2018

Clinical Education Centre, Auckland City Hospital

Program

Session one - Inspired to inspire

- 0830 The benefits of a career in academia – Professor Simon Mitchell
- 0900 The Voyage to SATURN: Supporting trainee-led audit and research in anaesthesia and perioperative care in New Zealand – Dr Mathew Jenkins
- 0930 Career perspectives – Associate Professor Ross Kennedy

1000 Morning Tea

Session two - The young and the restless

- 1030 What does PhD stand for? Confessions of a student pothole digger – Dr Daniel Chiang
- 1100 Do formal academic courses help me develop as a researcher? A personal journey to a PGDip in Public Health – Dr Nicola Broadbent
- 1130 The real John Snow: Master of Public Health – Dr Caroline Deng

1200 Lunch

Session three - Lessons from the experts

- 1300 The deficiencies of large randomised controlled trials – Professor Jamie Sleight
- 1330 Analysing the meta-analysis – Dr Nick Lightfoot
- 1400 How to conduct a pilot study – Dr Doug Campbell

1430 Afternoon Tea

Session four - International insight

- 1500 How to get the editors on your side – Professor Hilary Grocott
- 1530 The ins and outs of airway research – Assistant Professor Jessica Feinleib
- 1600 Perspectives from the frontline – Professor Bernhard Riedel

1630 – 1730 Drinks and nibbles at Café 85, Auckland Medical School

This workshop is supported by the ANZCA NZ National Committee and the Joint Anaesthesia Faculty Auckland (JFA)