

Pain Medicine Specialist

Location: Neurospine Institute, Perth, Western Australia

Neurospine Institute, a leading neurosurgery and spine care organisation, is seeking an additional Specialist in Pain Medicine. This is an opportunity to work in a multidisciplinary team of clinicians, providing holistic and expert pain management for patients with chronic pain, particularly (but not limited to) those with neurosurgical and spine-related conditions.

Why Join Neurospine Institute?

- Be part of a multidisciplinary practice providing a holistic approach to patient care
- Rapidly build a practice from the strong existing referral base (not limited to neurospinal patients).
- Corporatised medicine model maximising administrative assistance with economies of scale
- Participate in the ‘in house’ education/knowledge sharing programs
- Seize the opportunity to take the pathway to become an equity partner
- Competitive salary and earning opportunities.
- Flexible clinic locations
- Capitalise on leading mentorship and research culture through our not for profit, Neurospine Foundation.

Responsibilities:

- Assess, diagnose, and manage chronic pain, including pre and post neurosurgery and spine procedures.
- Develop personalised pain management plans using a multimodal approach (medications, interventions, therapy, etc.)
- Perform interventional procedures such as nerve blocks, epidural injections, and neuromodulation techniques.
- Collaborate with our surgeons, psychologists, physiotherapists, and other specialists for holistic patient care.
- Educate patients on pain management strategies and self-care techniques.
- Participate in research, quality improvement, and case conferences.

Requirements:

- Medical degree with registration as a Specialist in Pain Medicine in Australia or New Zealand.
- Fellowship in Pain Medicine (ANZCA or equivalent).
- Significant experience in chronic pain management, particularly in neurosurgical and spine conditions.
- Proficiency in interventional pain procedures.
- Strong communication skills and a commitment to ongoing professional development.
