ANZCA training and assessment fees

Other fees that may apply to trainees include:

- Fees relating to mandatory courses as part of training (eg EMAC).
- Examination withdrawal fees (as applicable).
- Recognition of prior learning (RPL) fees (as applicable).
- Part-time application fee (adjustments).
- Registration maintenance fees (interrupted training).
- Review and appeal (RRA) fees.

Please note: Special consideration for exams or fee support is available. Contact training@anzca.edu.au.

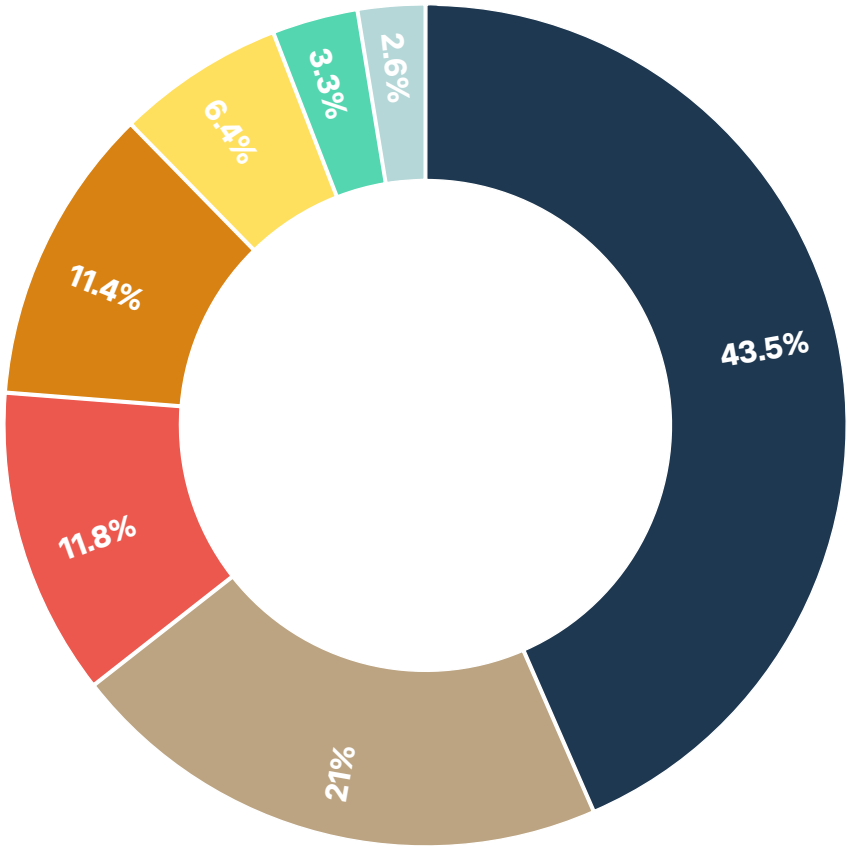

Training fees are reviewed and approved annually by ANZCA Council and may vary from year to year.

For full information on fees, refer to: ANZCA Regulation 37 on the ANZCA website.

November 2026

Where training and assessment fees go

Your annual training fee primarily funds the infrastructure required to run a world-class specialist training program. Examination fees are charged separately and contribute to the delivery of primary and final examinations.

Anaesthesia Training Program
Includes education development initiatives for curriculum and assessment, Australian Medical Council compliance requirements, trainee support activities.

Assessment delivery
Includes design, development and delivery of exams and other assessments, including venue and examiner costs.

Governance and organisational support
Includes ANZCA Council/education committee support, communications, legal/risk, insurance, HR, finance.

Training technology and digital platforms
Includes MyPortfolio, Training Site Accreditation platform, Exam Management System, etc.

Accreditation of training settings
Includes accreditation of sites delivering the Anaesthesia Training Program.

Clinical leadership and expertise
Includes directors of professional affairs and clinical leadership support for education development initiatives, trainee support, and assessor support.

Learning resources and educational content
Includes development and curation of knowledge resources, including the ANZCA Library, for the anaesthesia training program.

SCAN FOR MORE INFORMATION

Disclaimer: Indicative allocation based on internal management accounts. Audited financial statements report expenditure by accounting category rather than by training program service area.

November 2026