

Staff Specialist - Anaesthetics (502309)

The Tasmanian Health Service is an innovative and dynamic organisation dedicated to improving the health and wellbeing of our community.

We are committed to providing the highest levels of healthcare and services. We are seeking a motivated Staff Specialist Anaesthetist, who will work as part of the Department of Anaesthetics across THS - North West Region. The successful candidate will provide specialist anaesthesia treatment and care for public and private patients with on call services based at NWRH.

The medical services across the North West region of Tasmania are based primarily at the North West Regional Hospital (NWRH) in Burnie and at the Mersey Community Hospital (MCH) in Latrobe close to Devonport. The population of the area is approximately 116,000 within a total Tasmanian population of around 500,000. The Tasmanian Health Service – North West provides both acute and sub-acute services.

The two hospitals both have busy emergency and general medical departments. Both Obstetrics and Gynaecology and Paediatrics are primarily located at the NWRH with outpatient services at both sites. There are anaesthetic services provided at both sites however primarily based at NWRH. A busy general orthopaedic and general surgical service is based at NWRH with the MCH providing predominately day surgery cases. A rehabilitation service is located in a purpose built ward at the MCH. There are extensive outpatient services for a range of subspecialty services many of which are provided by visiting specialists from Launceston General Hospital, Royal Hobart Hospital and major hospitals in Victoria. The North West Cancer Centre (NWCC) operates as a branch of the Northern Tasmania Cancer Service and it is linked with the Holman Centre in Launceston. Onsite support services in pathology, imaging and pharmacy are extensive. The North West Rural Clinical School of the University of Tasmania is located on the campus of the NWRH and the MCH. Tasmanian Health Service – North West has a close working relationship with the University of Tasmania.
