

TASMANIA

CPD in a day

Saturday 5 November 2022

Medical Science Precinct, corner Liverpool Street and Campbell Street, Hobart

A single day workshop-based event, built entirely of ANZCA emergency response activities to meet your continuing professional development (CPD) requirements. We'll be offering high demand workshops in advanced life support (ALS), major haemorrhage, can't intubate can't oxygenate (CICO), and acute severe behavioral disturbance (ASBD).

Tasmania doesn't currently have a certified ASBD instructor, fortunately Dr Stephanie Oak, a consultation-liaison psychiatrist and pain medicine specialist, has agreed to come down from New South Wales to run four sessions for the meeting.

As well as the high value workshops given by expert instructors, you can look forward to good coffee and delicious catering throughout the event, followed by a casual and relaxed social function to unwind at the end of the day.

Venue

The workshops will be held at the Medical Science Precinct, an ideal venue for the workshops with plenty of open spaces to catch up with colleagues and enjoy the tasty, local catering that will be on offer.

Social function

There'll be a relaxed canapes and drinks function upstairs at Boodle Beasley, 315 Elizabeth Street, North Hobart from 6-8pm on Saturday 5 November which is included in your workshop registration. Dress is smart casual.

Attendance at the social function is included in your workshop registrations with guests also able to attend for $A55 (includes GST).
