Galbraith Creek Revegetation - A brief history in pictures, 2022

Whitsunday Catchment Landcare has been revegetating Galbraith Creek adjacent to Galbraith Park in Cannonvale since 2009/2010. These works have connected riparian zones, enabling connectivity for fauna and flora, as well as assisting with shading our weeds and improving habitat in the creek systems. Works are conducted when grants or funds are available for site preparation, mulch, irrigation and trees. Tree planting has been carried out by Landcare volunteers, local school students and members of the public. Maintenance is conducted by Landcare volunteers. Due to the hard work of all these volunteers, this site is almost complete. We anticipate that, with some support, planting at this site could be completed in the next 12 months. Maintenance will continue beyond that to ensure success of these plantings.
