

By-law 15

Regional and national committees of the faculty

15.1 Purpose

Australian regional committees and the New Zealand National Committee (NZNC) of the Faculty of Pain Medicine (FPM) are elected bodies that act as a conduit between fellows and trainees in the region or country and the FPM Board and Professional Standards Committee. The committees assist in implementing faculty policy in their region or country, advise the FPM Board and the Professional Standards Committee on issues of interest to the faculty and its fellows and trainees in the region or country, represent the faculty and promote the specialty, develop and maintain relationships with key regional or national stakeholders, and have a role in training, continuing medical education and other professional activities at a region or national level. The Australian regional committees report through the Professional Standards Committee to the board.

While FPM Board is the governance body for the entire faculty in both countries, the sovereign status of New Zealand is acknowledged and the importance of providing locally grounded advice to government in each of the faculty's countries is recognised. In recognition of the binational structure of the faculty, the FPM NZNC reports directly to the board and the NZNC chair will send a report to each board meeting. The FPM NZNC undertakes a leadership role on issues that relate specifically to New Zealand and reports to FPM Board on faculty affairs in New Zealand.

15.2 Roles

The roles of the FPM Australian regional committees and NZNC are specified in the relevant terms of reference. The terms of reference also specify matters that are not the role of the FPM Australian regional committees or NZNC. As the college, is a legally incorporated educational and scientific body, matters related to remuneration for professional services and other industrial issues may not be negotiated by regional and national committees.

15.3 Establishment of regional/national committees

15.3.1 Where a State or Territory of Australia or New Zealand has 5 or more fellows, a regional or national committee may be formed.

15.3.2 Where there are less than 5 fellows of the faculty in a given region or in New Zealand, then fellows may be represented by a board member from that region. If there is no board member, then a representative may be appointed by the board. The absence of a formalised regional/national committee in a region does not preclude fellows from holding meetings.

General activities of the regional/national committee

Training in pain medicine

The regional/national committee, in accordance with the activities of the Board, should consider local strategies for the recruitment and training of pain medicine trainees.

Regional/National education

The regional/national committee should consider the needs of the fellows in the region in terms of continuing medical education. This could take the form of several meetings per year with a nominated speaker inviting all fellows of the region/New Zealand. These Regional/New Zealand meetings should not interfere with the Annual Scientific Meeting or the Spring Meeting of the FPM. The Scientific Meetings Committee shall be notified of these meetings in advance. Nov 2018

Communication to local fellows
